Presentation

The International Symposium on Carbohydrates is a biennial meeting that represents the largest congress of scientists in the world working in this broad area, from basic to applied research. The aim of the symposium is to emphasize the multidisciplinary breadth of glycosciences, with incidence in a variety of distinct scientific disciplines (synthetic chemistry, chemical biology, material sciences, chemical and physical structural methods, analytical tools, practical and industrial applications, theoretical aspects, biochemistry, biomedicine, and glycobiology).

The ICS 26th meeting, under the auspices of the International Carbohydrate Organization (ICO, <http://www.internationalcarbohydrateorganisation.org/>), will take place in Madrid (Hotel Meliá Castilla, 22-27 July 2012), for the very first time in Spain, since the first event took place in Paris in 1960.

It is expected that close to 1000 scientists will attend the meeting, with a wide scientific diversity. The scientific programme has been already prepared, composed by 10 plenary lectures, more than 50 invited lectures, 100 oral communications, 100 flash presentations and several hundreds of posters. Special sessions for young scientists will be also presented.

Sponsorship contributions from external companies, foundations or institutions are very welcome by the Madrid ICS2012 organization. You are encouraged to present your latest technology, instrumentation, materials, books, journals, consumables, or advanced methodology, etc, as well as specific applications in carbohydrate chemistry, biochemistry and industrial applications, from analysis to synthesis, from molecular biology to biotechnology.

Sponsorship can be articulated according with your interest and your expected visibility. In this brochure we suggest some specific sponsorship opportunities, but the organization is open to hear of any kind of different proposal for the external financial support of this unique meeting. In particular, you can also sponsor the Conference as a whole, but also some specific sessions or activities. In any case, your sponsorship will always give you the opportunity to advertise the name of your company in the sponsorship section of the official website of the Conference.
